Alexander Wieber, His Wife, and a Six-year-old Son Murdered in Their Beds at Evansville Saturday

Special to THE BRICKES LINE NEWS. Special to Tax Barck's hands News.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 13.—At an early hour this morning a rumor gained carrency on the streets that an entire family named Wieber had been murdered in their beds the preceding night. For one a street-car about 9 o'clock, your correspondent visited the reported scene of the triple tragedy, and found the rumor only too well founded. The unfortunate victims were Germans, and lived at the corner of St. Joseph and Canal streets. Here we found an excited crowd. through which we passed and entered the house only to look upon the most shocking scene we ever beheld.

Side by side upon a bed were the bodies of Mr. Alex. Wieber and his wife, the former with his head cleft by the blow of a hatchet and his chroat cut from ear to car. On the front side of the Fod was the body of Mrs. Wieber, with three braises on her face fiear the nose, one on her forehead, all evidently made with the poll of a hafchet, and her throat likewise severed from ear to car. On the floor by the side, of the bed were great pools of blood, and the walls were applicabled with the crimson evidences of the foulest crime that was ever perpetrated in this city. Passing from this room inof the foulest crime that was ever perpetrated in this city. Passing from this room into the kitchen, near the door, we looked upon the most pitiful sight of all. With his head near the stove, and his body resting in a great pool of blood, was little six-year old Frank, his skull crushed in, and his fittle head of black, curly hair almost severed from the body. At this hour, 6 o'clock p. m. the excitement is very intense in the vicinity of this horrible crime. But very faint, if any, clew has been discovered by the police. Two men, neighbors of the murdered family, have been arrested on suspicion, on the boots of one fresh blood having been discovered, and the other having boasted that be could tell fright smart, about the daily could tell "right smart" about the affair he could tell "right smart" about the affair if he wanted to. These arrests occurred early this morning, and we have fast learned that four other suspected parties have been placed under arrest. Thousands of people now block the streets at the scene of this terrible crime, and threats of lynching the suspected parties under arrest are freely indulged in. The entire police force of the city is on the alert, prepared for any thing that may transpire. E. G. S. B.

Yesterday morning at ten o'clock, during the prevalence of a thunder-storm, a bolt of fightning struck Gregory's Warehouse at the upper levee, inflicting considerable damage on the building, and giving a narrow escape for life to Missre. The former was seated in the door of the warehouse, and was knocked insensible by the bolt, the hair on the right side of his head being singed as though by fire. The bolt struck the comb of the house at the gable facing the river, and divided, one portion prostrating Mr. John Gregory, as stated, and the other glanving off and striking a locust tree at the edge of the sidewalk in front of the door, against which Mr. George Gregory was leaning. MURBER IN HARDIN COUNTY.

oho Thurman, a Candidatè for Constable lu East View District. Proves His Capacity for the Post-tion by Committing a Marter

Friday night preceding the election the small railroad village of East View, Hardin small railroad village of East View, Hardin county, was the scene of a murder that was directly fracelible to that prolific parent of lawlessness and crime, whisky. The circumstances, as related to us by a member of the coroner's jury, were as follows:

It seems that there is a doggery at East View kept by a man named Aliams, and it was used as a place to distribute had white the condition of the candidate of the candidate of the candidate.

ky (in the interest of certhin of the candi-dates for county offices) to worse men in order to secure their votes for the parties at whose expense the poisonous liquid was dealt out. Among those who did not value their votes above a few drinks of whisky, was a worthless, but inoffensive fellow, named Jake Martin, who became very drunk. As the shades of night drew near the drunken, noisy crown dispersed to their several homes, until the only ones left were Martin, John Thurffian (a candidate for constable in that district), and O. R. Green, of Elizabethtöwn, who was there in the nterest of a candidate of his town. All hree of these parties left, Adams' together n the direction of the railroad.

Saturday morning the dead body of Mar-in was found near the railroad track, his head showing every evidence of foul play. The skull was fractured and when found the body was stiff and cold, the murder baying evidently been perpetrated in the earlier part of the preceding night. An inquest was held, the foregoing facts elicited, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Thurman and Green on the charge arrest of Thurman and Green on the charge of murder. Therman, who was on the ground at the beginning of the inquest, when he discovered the drift, of the testimony, quietly disappeared. He was in Teitchfield Sunday night, and passed through the southern portion of this county Monday going in the direction of Owenshoro, Green was arrested at Elizabethtown Sunday day, but on the examining trial, which occurs at the following Third ay, there being no evidence against him beyond the fact that he had been seen in company with Martin and Thurman the evening of the murder, he was honorably discharged. The onse was exceedingly strong against Thur-man, who, according to the sworn state-ment of Adams and others, returned to Adams' deadfall Friday night and boast-ed of having "hit" Martin and left him lying in the road. The Beath of Capt. Thos. F. Sitton; Capt. Thomas F. Sitton, of Pilcher's Point, near Lake Providence. Louisiana, died at the Cloverport Hotel in this cip last Friday morning at 4 o'clock. He arrived here on his way to the Tar Springs, seeking relief from a disease which proved prematurely fatal (gastritis) and was unnote to proceed farther on his former. He was accompanied by a young gentleman, Mr. McCrae, the only acquaintance near him.

Although a stranger, dying in a strange land, at the supreme moment the common impulse of sympathetic humanity found him friends who soothed, as boat they could, his last hours, and fringed the dreary lanchiness of his situation with the "silver liming" of human compassion. Fair women strewed flowers on his bier, and wept over the fate of the lonely atranger, far from home and children and friends who will never greet his returning footsteps.

Captain Sitton was a widower, with five little motherless children, and about forty years of age. He was, a member of the Baptist church, and a Free Mason of high degree. The members of the order here saw to his comfort, and conducted his interment in the beautiful cemetery overlooking our little city.

Given under my hands as Commissioner of aid court, the 2nd day of August, 1882.

Sathrday differnoon, the 5th instaur, Miss Mary Crawford, aged hincteen, daughter of Mr. Wesley Crawford, farmer, residing about 5 mile from Millwood, in Grayson county, rode into the village for the mail. The animal she rode was old and gentle, to Obtaining the letters and papers for the family she started to return home, and was reading a letter she find received. Whether the horse stumbled and caused her to fall, or became frightened, jumped to one side, and threw her, will never be known, though the probability points to the latter, as, when the animal was found; the saddle was under its belly and broken. At any rate the infortunate young lady was discovered about four d'clock lying in the road, insonable, and with her head and face terribly bruised. She was conveyed to her home, but never rallied, remaining in an unconscious condition until the next evening, when she expired. Miss Mary was an exceedingly bright and charming young lady, and a general favorite in the community.
